FROM THE CHARITY COMMITTEE

Thank you to everyone who supported "Tea at Molly's"; just over £200 in profit was raised. Members of Bury's Samaritans' Youth Support Group were much in evidence, in their bright green T-shirts, as they helped with all aspects of the event's organisation. In addition, they offered several short presentations indicating the nature and scope of the work of The Samaritans, which were both interesting and moving.

Colin Smith will accept the contents of collecting-boxes at any time.

It will soon be time to decide upon our designated charity for next year. If you wish to suggest a charity, please speak to Roger Mills or Molly Ratcliffe. We usually try to support a charity which is fairly local.

The Charity Committee's last event for this year will be a Murder Mystery Evening, to be held on Saturday, September 1st.

MINISTER'S MONTH

For half of this month John and I have been away on holiday in Northumberland. The non-existent summer led to a some problems when deciding what to pack. Waterproofs were a must but would we need sunscreen or sunhats? Should we take deckchairs or perhaps a canoe? I took the sunhat but not the canoe, and as it turned out I didn't need either of them. The weather, considering the summer so far, was relatively kind, and we did spend some time outdoors.

Rain they say is weather for ducks but talking to gardeners it seems to be weather for slugs and snails as well, with number reaching epidemic proportions. I have missed the frogs in our garden this year as, unlike last year when we had lots, there only seems to be one who lives under the wheelie bin. This is a bit dangerous as we are likely to run over him/her if we forget to remove the bin carefully.

It is good to report that we have had interest in the position of organist and hopefully this will go forward positively and there will be some definite news soon. Although it will be really good to have a permanent organist I will miss the talented young people who have provided us with such wonderful music during the interim. Making sure that there has been music every week has been hard work. It is thanks to Anne Mills, who has advertised for an organist far and wide, that we are now almost in a position to make an appointment.

No matter what the weather is like the barbeque will go ahead on 4th August - an umbrella will be supplied to the cook. As I reminded Sheena Bluer when she visited earlier this year, the first barbeque was held in the garden of the house she and Dick had on Haig Road before they returned to Glasgow. I also remembered a very wet summer Saturday about thirty years ago that had us removing the proceedings and all the furniture back from Haig Road to church.

Since my return from holiday, I have been up to Todmorden which was affected by the recent flooding. There are sandbags stacked outside almost every house and marks on the walls that show the level the water reached. I was talking to one of the couples at a wedding rehearsal, and they said that the floodwater had reached a depth of about five feet in her mother's house. This is a story repeated all over the country and I feel so sorry for those who have been affected.

Hopefully the weather will improve, and the visit to the arboretum will be blessed with conditions more appropriate to the time of year.
