YOUNG PEOPLE

CARRY ON CAMPING

One of the most potent memories I have of childhood is one that is common to children who grow up in the United States of America, but is virtually unknown to youth in the United Kingdom. For one month of the summer season, each year, I would attend summer camp. This involved filling a footlocker with the necessary bed linen and clothing for all manner of outdoor physical activities, hot and humid weather, and the occasional "formal" event—all of which would have to suffice, no matter what was lost, torn or destroyed in the course of the month. What was added to the load of items to pack was the fact that this was no ordinary summer camp. It was a Jewish music camp. It was therefore a requirement that one's instrument (in my case, a trombone), specified sheet music, a metronome, and certain religious books would be included on the "to pack" list. It made for a very heavy load to squeeze into the family car!

The experience of sleeping in a bunk bed in a cabin full of adolescent boys at the height of the summer meant that there was precious little chance of having any privacy or enjoying a quiet night's sleep. The entire day was scheduled with meals, worship, music lessons, choral singing and outdoor recreation. It was great fun to rehearse the Brahms Requiem with the choir, and then run down to the lake for two hours of exercise in a canoe. The highlight of the month would be the Saturday evening recital, when a two-hour-long performance would be given in the main building for the benefit of the parents, who had come to collect their children for the journey back home. Tears were shed as newly-made friends were waved "Good-bye," and the realisation hit that all the fun and games had come to an end . . . until next year.

As we prepare for our own summer church events and private holidays, I can't forget all those marvellous summers at camp, and all the wonderful people I met along the way. I wonder how those "happy campers" are now, and what sorts of lives they ended up living. It was a terrific opportunity to meet people from different backgrounds and parts of the country, and to know that we were brought together by a love of music and a common faith. How can we share some of that adventure in our adult lives, and re-discover the child in us who longs to get away to a different environment, if only for a short stay? Have a wonderful summer season!

BOOK CLUB

The July meeting of the Book Club will take place on Monday, 26 July, from 7.30 to 9 p.m. The book to be discussed is In Another Light, by Andrew Greig. Light refreshments are contributed and shared by members and friends. Newcomers are always welcome to attend, regardless of whether one has read the book or not!

HOLEBOTTOM COMMEMORATION

The members and friends of the Bury Unitarian Church will be joined by the neighbours of the Holebottom Cemetery at an open-air service on Sunday, 11 July, beginning at three o'clock in the afternoon. As the nation marks the 65th anniversary of the end of the Second World War, our congregation will have the opportunity to honour those members who were killed in military service, and whose remains lie buried in the cemetery. Music will be provided by Stand Chapel member, Mr. Cody Coyne, and friends. The service will be followed by afternoon tea, which will be served at Holebottom Cottage, Woodgate Hill Road, which is the home of church members, Jean and Les Heal. If you plan to attend, please sign your name on the appropriate list on the notice board in the church lounge, so that adequate catering arrangements may be made

ON-LINE CALENDAR

Internet users will already know that our church website contains an on-line copy of each calendar. Until recently only the current calendar has been available, but now the home page contains links to the current edition, and all previous editions this year. I now intend to assemble an archive of as many back editions on-line as time permits. This should eventually form a historical record of the life of our church. In order to access each calendar simply click on the link to the required edition on the home page. The documents are each stored and displayed as pdf files. If required, a free copy of a suitable reader can be downloaded directly from our website by clicking on the "Adobe Reader" button beneath the list of available calendars. Please let me know if you have any difficulty with this new facility.

POINTS OF INTEREST FROM COUNCIL MEETING

The following issues were discussed at the recent Council Meeting on 14th June

The arrangements for the annual Bazaar will be discussed at the next Efforts sub-committee meeting on Monday, 2nd August. Anyone with ideas or offers of help are invited to attend this meeting or, alternatively, to speak to Margaret Fitzpatrick or Susan Holt prior to that date.

One volunteer is required to join the Saturday morning coffee rota. It is important to maintain numbers as this keeps duties down to every 8 weeks. You do not have to commit to do all the baking – suitable cakes can be purchased when necessary. If you can possibly help please speak to Jean Taylor.

The service at Holebottom will be held on Sunday, 11th July, at 3.00 pm. Musical accompaniment will be provided by a group led by Cody Coyne.

Following the service tea will be served at Holebottom Cottage, the home of Les and Jean Heal.

Members of the congregation are invited to attend Bury United Reformed Church on Sunday, 4th July, and it is hoped that members of their congregation will join us for worship on Sunday, 11th July.

The Minister is co-ordinating proposed arrangements to attend the Buddhist Retreat at Ulverston on either Wednesday, 8th or 15th September. Admission would be free and the visit would last about 3 hours.

It is proposed to have a 'sort out' of the fridge and freezer. Anyone who has left items is asked to label them appropriately if they are to be retained, otherwise they will be disposed of.

Sorry to mention it at this time of the year! but as the Christmas Eve communion service will be held on Friday, and the Christmas Day service on Saturday, would you please make it known to the Minister if you would support a service on the Sunday (Boxing Day).

RICE MATTERS

Question: how much does it cost to put a child through high school, in Malawi, for a year?

Answer: 90 kilograms of rice, or £225.00, at £2.50 per kilogram bag.

An organisation called "Just Trading Scotland" has issued a challenge to interested parties to sell Kilombero rice in order to help farmers in one of the poorest countries in Africa to educate their children. This challenge was discussed at the June Church Council Meeting, and Anne Mills has agreed to co-ordinate Bury Unitarian Church's effort. We intend to sell our rice during the weekend of our Harvest Festival (October 2nd and 3rd) and hope that everybody will feel able to get involved; if each church-member could buy 1 or 2 packets of rice---for individual use, or to sell on to family or friends---we could achieve our aim and have the satisfaction of knowing that we had helped people in the developing world in a tangible way.

Please give some thought---now--- to how you personally might support this effort; as a taster, why not try the following recipe for an alternative rice-pudding?

Cook some rice in a little water for 5 minutes, just enough to soak it up, then place it in an oven dish and cover it with milk, a knob of butter and a decent spoonful of honey and bake for 20 minutes, at 170 degrees C, or gas mark 3.

VISIT TO KENDAL

This will take place on Wednesday, July 28th, when we shall leave Bury at 9 a.m. and depart from Kendal at 5 p.m. A 29-seater coach has been booked which means that there are still a few places available (as I write); please sign the notice in the lounge if you wish to go, or if you have family or friends who would like to join us.

We shall start from the Freebird coach depot, on Woodhill Road, at the bottom of Brandlesholme Road; Freebird have agreed that there is space in and around their yard to leave cars for the day. Please let me know if would have difficulty getting there.

I expect the cost of the day to be approximately £20.00, depending on final numbers; this will include coach-fare, a tip for the driver, and entry to The Quaker Tapestry. I intend to collect the money in advance of the trip, on July 11th and July 25th; once you have paid, your place is booked, and it will be your responsibility to find a replacement, if you are subsequently unable to travel.

Everyone will need to take a packed lunch; if anyone requires afternoon tea, there is a vegetarian café, next to The Quaker Tapestry building, or several teashops in Kendal town-centre, within 2-3 minutes' walk.

I will post exact details on the lounge notice-board, nearer the time; watch out for these, and for pulpit-announcements.
Anne.
