Meanwhile, the work of the Committee continues, with attempts to promote Fair Trade in as many areas as possible of the Bury community.
Anne

BOOK CLUB

The Book Club will meet on Monday 31 October at 7.30pm in the lounge at Bury. The book to be discussed is The Secret Scripture by Sebastian Barry. All are welcome. It's not even necessary to have read the book. We share refreshments during the evening and usually finish at around 9.00pm.

Churches Together

The last meeting took place on September 8th, at the United Reformed Church. Much of the current work centres on the new Churches Together group, which will amalgamate the churches of Central, South and North Bury into a group to be known as "Bury Central and District". A draft constitution has been prepared, and this includes both the objectives of the group and practical arrangements. Preparations for Christmas have begun; carol-singing in the Millgate Centre has been proposed again, and each church has been asked to list details of its Christmas services, to be incorporated into one advertisement in "The Bury Times".

Our difficulties within the group remain to be resolved; we shall persevere with our attempts to clarify our position; the future, at present, is uncertain.

Anne.

Notes from Church Council Meeting: 8-8-11

- 8 members of Dunham Road Unitarian Church, Altrincham, visited us, on 7-7-11, and an enjoyable evening ensued. (Unfortunately, a return visit to Dunham Road had to be postponed because of rioting in Manchester.)
- A visit to Gorton Monastery has been arranged for Sunday, October 9th.
- The Treasurer stressed the importance of live giving, in the light of rising-costs and fewer members. It is hoped that those who participate in the envelope-scheme will pay missed contributions at a later stage.
- Pam Gilbert has agreed to act as Minutes' Secretary to the Communications and Worship Committee until the AGM, next March.
- The Efforts Committee are feeling disenchanted; changes need to be made, and it was suggested that members should meet with the Charity Committee, with a view to both groups working together, for mutual benefit and enjoyment.
- The Bazaar Meeting, on 18-7-11, was very successful; an organising-committee was formed and will next meet on 24-9-11.
- It was agreed that a Congregational Open Meeting would be held on 25-9-11; on that date, there will be a short service, followed immediately by the Meeting.
- There was discussion as to how church-membership was to be defined; the Congregational Rules state clearly that members shall be over 16, have a minimum of 6 months' attendance, be approved by Council, and commit to a regular financial contribution. (This should be equal, at least, to the quota payment, which the G.A. has set at £28.00, this year; this works out at slightly less than 54 pence per week, per head.) Margaret Pollard has agreed to draw up a definitive list of church-members.
- The G.A. AGM's will be held at Keele University, in April, 2012.
- A crèche for some of the younger children has been suggested and will run, on a trial basis, for the time being.
- NELUM is waiting for its new constitution and standing-orders to be approved by the Charity Commissioners; we will receive our copy, in due course.

TEN ETHICAL COMMANDMENTS

As part of the 'Build Your Own Theology' seminars participants were asked to write commandments that had an ethical basis. Below are the ten that the group decided on following long discussions. You will notice that all are couched in positive terms unlike the biblical commandments.

1. Be kind.
2. Defend everyone's right to freedom.
3. Treat others as you would wish to be treated.
4. Seek to nurture peace within yourself and the world.
5. Respect and protect all life.
6. Celebrate the riches of diversity.
7. Be just and fair.
8. Be generous of heart
9. Be true to yourself and to others.
10. Accept responsibility for you words and actions.

In the space below perhaps you would like to add something of your own and add it to the list on the board in the lounge.

The Interim Minister's last 16 days

It has been both a pleasure and a privilege to minister with you at Bury for the last nine months. I want to thank you for your enthusiasm and encouragement in all I have tried to do. I came home to loving friends and it has been a joy. Thank you.

At the beginning of the interim I said that we had to be in this together if we were to fill the 'gap' with something worthwhile and you have certainly done your bit. The work of the interim was based around 'seven points' we would aim to achieve. The first of these was to keep the church lively and active. I believe this point has been met with trips and lunches and seminars. There have also been some 'different' services, two evening services, a music service when friends were invited and a congregation of a hundred assembled and then had lunch together and finally a peace service.

Questions about the identity of the church and the kind of congregation Bury Unitarian Church is now and aspires to be in the future were tackled during the seminars early in the interim. In the succeeding months I have tried to encourage everyone to think about their church and ministry using some sermons for this purpose. I have done my best to encourage commitment to each other and to the church and, in doing this, create a strong sense of community placing lot of emphasis on being justly proud of this special place. 'Speaking well of each other and of the church.' I said in a sermon.

I have also done the 'normal' work of ministry, visiting, attending meetings and preparing and leading worship. I really knew I had come home when I found myself back in the kitchen (this is not a grumble, I love cooking.) I have organised two series of seminars on 'Spirituality in Everyday Life' and 'Build Your Own Theology' both of which I have found extremely rewarding and I thank those who have taken part. Out of them it seems a monthly discussion group may emerge which will be an excellent legacy.

I hope that the interim has given the stability it was intended to do and that the work of ministry has continued in a satisfactory way and that all our listening and talking with each other has led to a positive vision for the future.

I warned you in January that if you wanted someone just to keep things ticking over until a new minister was appointed then I was probably the wrong person for the job. It has been a busy nine months but I am so glad you invited me along it has been amazing and wonderful. I am very grateful for all you have given to me.

Before I go .....
